Of Progress

THIS IS NOW!

Chancellor High School is celebrating its tenth year of operation. C.H.S. opened its doors on September 6, 1988 with Mr. John M. Winston being our "original settler." The first year Chancellor was open, we had no ceiling in some areas, the auditorium was a mud pit, and there was no gym. The outside walk of the school was originally painted maroon, but was later dug up and painted gray. There were 910 students, with 75 of them seniors. One of our math teachers, Mrs. Striman, says, "I remember the faculty going out to the circle because of noxious gases in the building." Several other teachers remember the building being evacuated because of gases during the first teacher work week, a dangerous beginning.

Ten years later, Chancellor has doubled in size, dominated in sports, and increased their Charger spirit. Mr. John R. Marra is now the principal with our student body having 1655 students and 371 of them being seniors. Chancellor has undergone some physical changes through the years. We now have some landscaping, "Home of the Chargers" sign, and the five trailers in the teachers parking lot because of the number of students we have here at Chancellor. Our credo is keep on reaching for your goals, participating in sports, clubs, and activities, and don't ever hide your Charger pride!

Climbing Life to Success

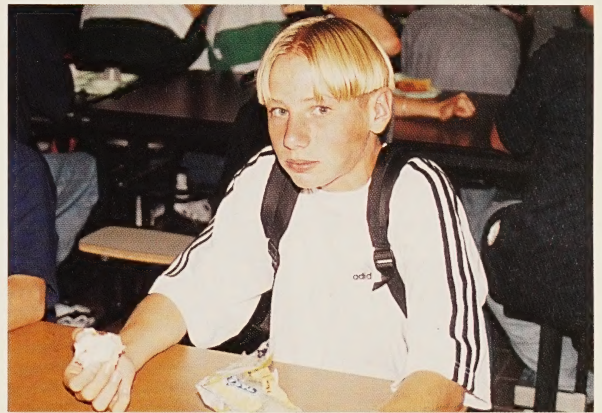

The most important parts of a student's life are their grades, sports, and their social life. Students striving for college go for the high GPA, 3.2 or above, says Mrs. Diane Portner. Sports and social lives often make it difficult for students to obtain these goals.

Sports add much diversity to a student's life. With the 15 sports that are offered at Chancellor High School, there is always a game to be played. These sports may offer scholarships to students who excel in a sport or academics.

To some students, school is a social gathering. They get to show their style to their peers. There are several different styles at Chancellor, which creates several different social groups.

To some students school can be defined as life between summers. Today, students think no differently than they did ten years ago. Summer still means fun! It is the time when students kick back and relax. There is no need to worry about homework, essays, or deadlines.

Unlike ten years ago, job opportunities expanded greatly in the Fredericksburg area. Central Park opened a variety of opportunities, including Funland, an amusement center where students can work and have loads of fun. Shoppers Food Warehouse opened mid summer and many students, including Justin Binns and Robert Picariello accepted jobs there. Kings Dominion was once again a place where students enjoyed working. The students that were employed at Kings Dominion enjoyed the free passes to get into the park, and the discounts on the food and merchandise.

For those who did not choose to work, many enjoyed going to movies, swimming, and traveling. Ten summers ago, students spent hot summer nights in theaters watching Dirty Dancing. Last summer, they spent their nights watching Men in Black and the Lost World. The summer before Chancellor High School opened, students enjoyed dancing to MC Hammer and Guns & Roses. Last summer the students danced to Sublime, Jewel, and Puff Daddy. Popular vacation spots are still Nags Head, North Carolina and Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. Many students spend their time at the beach wind surfing, or jetskiing. Others just enjoy lying in the sun.

Some students attended the Regional Summer Governor's school at James Monroe High School. Classes such as Engineering And Design, Communications, and Mentorship were available to the students attending. Students such as Tony Feducia and Melanie Wyckoff attended this program.

Whether working or just enjoying the warm weather, the students at Chancellor High School always have fun. The summer activities a person participates in shows the strengths that person has.

Members of the color guard spend many hours practicing, yet are still able to take time from their busy schedule to have fun. After a hard day of work washing cars, the dance team has enough energy to dance. Melissa Nicholson spends her long summer days working in the mall at the Sunglass Hut. Courtney Fantasia loads a customer's cart at the newly opened Ukrops. Kyle Johnson, Daryl Claiborne, and Jeff Dowdell spend a week at a summer camp in Front Royal. There they act as counselors to kids ages 9 through 12. Here the three of them are catching some rays at the pool. Kyle is also doing the wave at a dance. Josh Grinnell, Heather Palmieri, Elizabeth Mathewson, Elizabeth Sanchez, and Hannah Dowell horse around outside of the school while waiting for their rides after a long day of band practice.

ractice Makes Perfect

Sara Drebes and Erin Cizek get ready before a tough day at practice. The field hockey team looks exhausted after a hard day's work. The football team talks about strategies to fool their opponents in the upcoming season. The band awaits their next cue to start the music. Blaine Verdow, Tamela Berry, Rachel Knowles, and Sharon Brown, stretch before a tough couple of miles. The volleyball team stretches out before bumping, setting, and spiking. Brendon Brody and Hunter Woodard focus deeply on their stretching.

While this summer was quickly coming to an end, students couldn't help but to try to get some extra sleep before school begins. As these students were fast asleep, the fall sports teams were preparing for their new seasons to begin.

Last season the teams tried as hard as they could to do their best towards winning every game. Field hockey, last year, had an outcome of one win, twelve losses, and two ties, but this season came out great. The football teams outcome, last year, was, the Varsity won five out of ten games. The coaches chose not to have a Junior Varsity team this year. The Junior Varsity team won five out of eight games last season. The Cross-Country is doing great just like last year. The boy's, last year, won two out of five meets and the girl's won three out of five meets. The boy's placed fourth at Districts and the girl's placed second. The team is doing just as great as last year. The volleyball teams second year at Chancellor High School seems to definitely to be a good one. This year the girls are off to a really nice start of eight wins and two losses. The band practices day-in and day-out, preparing for the football games and competition.

The outcome of the games, meets, and matches gives us a good edge towards Districts and even Regionals. Good luck to all you hard workers in anything you do and remember "Practice Makes Perfect".

Chancellor student Valerie Hicks smiles as she works at the movie theater, while Brian Moss helps out his friend Amy Madgar at work by purchasing a ticket for the carousel at the mall from her. Beverly Saunders makes her money by selling pet supplies at PetSmart and Sarah Gibert gives a customer change at the movie theater. Kim Dowdell counts money at MJDesigns this summer. Seniors Sara Drebes, Courtney Fantaski, and Meghan Thomas spend their summer days bagging groceries at Ukrops. Amy Wheatly works at the cash register at the Dollar King as Adam Johnson shows off the shoes for sale at A&N. Shanna Wise spends her summer making cookies at the Great American Cookie Company in the mall. Many Chancellor students enjoy working at area businesses to make extra money over the summer.

Every summer for the past decade, many Chancellor students have gone to work at various area businesses during the summer to earn extra money. The most popular places to work this summer were Ukrops and Spotsylvania Mall. R/C Theaters across the street from the mall was another popular place of employment. There were Chancellor students at other area businesses as well this past summer.

Ukrops had the largest number of Chancellor students at one business this past summer. The majority of them bagged groceries and took those groceries to the customers cars. Every student who worked there always had a smile on their face because they love the work and enjoy making money.

A large group of Chancellor students were scattered among the different businesses throughout the mall. One student ran the carousel while others sold sunglasses and another made cookies.

Many Chancellor students worked at other businesses in the area as well. Some worked with pet supplies at PetSmart while others sold shoes at A&N, another Chancellor student was a cashier at the Dollar King. A handful of students worked at the movie theater and made their money by selling popcorn. All the Chancellor students who worked this summer definitely had more spending money this fall than they did ten years ago when Chancellor opened.

e just can't hide our Charger Pride

We've got Charger spirit and it shows! There is no better place to see this than at a Charger Pep Rally. This year our first pep rally took place on Friday, September 19, before our home game against James Monroe's Yellow Jackets. Chancellor students enjoyed their first pep rally, and the thrill of the battle to come lifted enough spirits to help boost the varsity team to a 25-7 win.

A Charger Pep Rally is usually led by the spirited art teacher, Mr. Carlos Moore. Mr. Moore kept the excitement begun by the sounds of our pep band by introducing the Fall sports teams. Chancellor students and faculty enjoyed performances from the J.V. and Varsity cheerleading squads. The Chargerettes drill team and the Umbrella Clubs' Steppers in Command performed new routines.

Another necessary ingredient to a successful pep rally is a spirited cheerleading squad. We have that, too, as Melissa Nicholson holds up an encouraging sign to the pep rally attendants to help school spirit. One of our most enthusiastic teams is the field hockey team respond with promising smiles and encouraging cheers.

Cheerleader Samantha Fredo leads the crowd in a familiar cheer. The class of 1999 prepare to join in the fun. Heather King, Kristin Felsted, and Andrea Graninger don't mind showing their pride in their school, as do the members of the senior class as they display their senior hats. The Steppers in Command are always a hit, and band members Nicole Hartley and Laura Hall show their charger spirit and pride as they play music, dance to a tune, or strike a pose. Another enthusiastic group are our Chargerettes. Kara Lardi and Shannon Walker like being involved in our rally. Onlookers such as Jessica Gates, join in, too, with members of the field hockey team like Michelle Mendez and Sara Drebes, and cheerleader Melissa Nicholson, as Charger pride is taken to new heights.

Everybody has hair, so what you do with it is doubly important. It's a statement of your personality that everybody sees. Long, short, colored or natural hairstyles — students have so many options and there is at least one student at Chancellor for every option.

Everyone wants to look his best when returning to school. So, many students go in the weeks before the beginning of the school year to get their hair cut. Whether it's just a trim or a totally new look, starting school with good hair is very important.

Hair is what takes up the majority of time getting ready for school. It has to be washed, blow-dried, and for the girls a decision has to be made on whether to wear it up or down. Chancellor students estimate that they spend an average of half of a hour on their hair a day. That adds up to over a week each year!

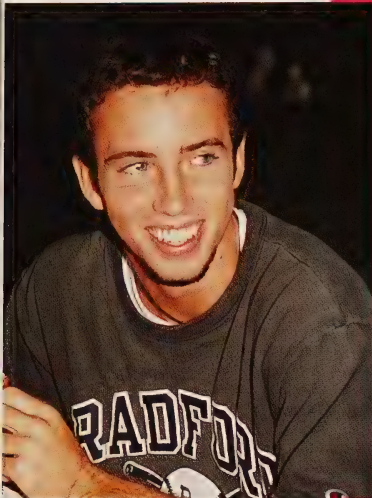

Hair is also something that can be taken care of quickly on those late mornings. For guys, run a comb through it and go, for girls, throw it in a ponytail. Even though this isn't a look we'd want for everyday, it sure can be convenient.

Gimme a Head With Hair"

Chancellor students spent most of the first weeks of school getting back into the school-year rhythms and getting ready is one of them where hair plays an important part. Two friends let us admire their hair before school. Penny Rowley shows off the result of her hard work. Russ Meyer stops with a big smile. Candace Crawford is happy to show off her hair. Shannon Walker smiles because she knows she's having a good hair day. Jennifer Itam is caught on her way to class. Todd Philips looks up so we can see what he spends his mornings on. Shane Richards and Jeffery Quinones prove just because you're friends your hair doesn't have to look alike. Erin Kotwiski stops in the morning to let us see her hair. Mia DePalma shows off her hair before school. Brad Brewer pauses from his lunch to let us see what his morning is spent on.

he First Week

The first week of school is hectic for most students especially new students and freshmen. Mr. Moore and Jason Drugatz stop during class to talk. Maggie Holloran takes time to help put up a colorful sign to help advertise The Back to School Dance. The SCA Sponsored Welcome Back Brunch for the teachers was a success this year. Ryan Foster, Miranda Hall and Lauren Ridder take the time from their lunch to stop and read a schedule to find out which class they go to next. Kristen Felsted goes to her locker to retrieve a book for her next class. Mr. Stottlemeyer stops to help Maia White out with her assignment while Julia Hairfield and Rachel Dunavent wait patiently in line so they can take their pictures for picture day. Ms. Moffett helps Brian Okin so he can get a better concept in his business class. All and all the first week was a lot of fun and a great success here at Chancellor.

The First Week at Chancellor High School is the most stressful and the most fun. During the first week we can make some of our best friends. This year at Chancellor High School students and teachers will be rising from their beds fifteen minutes earlier compared to last year; now school begins at 7:45 a.m. Some students complained a little, but no one complained about getting out of school fifteen minutes earlier. This year Chancellor was so overcrowded that our lunch periods had to be increased in length so every student would get a chance to finish his or her meal; but, eventually everything has its way of working out and that all depends on us and what we want to make out of Chancellor High School and its activities. Our first week at Chancellor was a success and we hope to have many more to come in the future.

I n Touch or Out of Touch?

There is usually too much or too little time for students. Senior Michelle Mendez passes time while waiting for field hockey practice. Tracie Isenberg uses time to study between classes and Jason Conyers finds time to relax at work. Ben Woomer and Warren Bartman perform at a football halftime show. Jennifer McClure enjoys her time during the first days of school. Winter varsity cheerleaders have a successful day at summer camp. Katie Garner passes a summer day with twins Dan and Tim Thompson. Shanna Wise and Jenny Weinman enjoy shopping at Spotsylvania Mall, and Jesse Smith and friends socialize after lunch. For the most part, Chancellor students enjoy best spending time with their peers.

Are you in touch or out of touch? Do you know what is going on in the school? If you do you would know that Chancellor students are very active in school. After ten years of being open, Chancellor has so many more extra curricular activities to participate in than when we opened our doors ten years ago. Today there are over forty clubs, organizations, or activities for students to become active in; ten years ago there were only twenty-eight. Because of our jump to AAA status, we now have added several freshmen athletic teams and girls' volleyball.

One of the highlights of the year for clubs and organizations is the homecoming week. Each group may put up a wall, and all but four did so this year. These walls give the week an even more special feel. About half of the groups enter a float into the halftime homecoming parade. These efforts are important to each organization because it shows their support and pride in Chancellor.

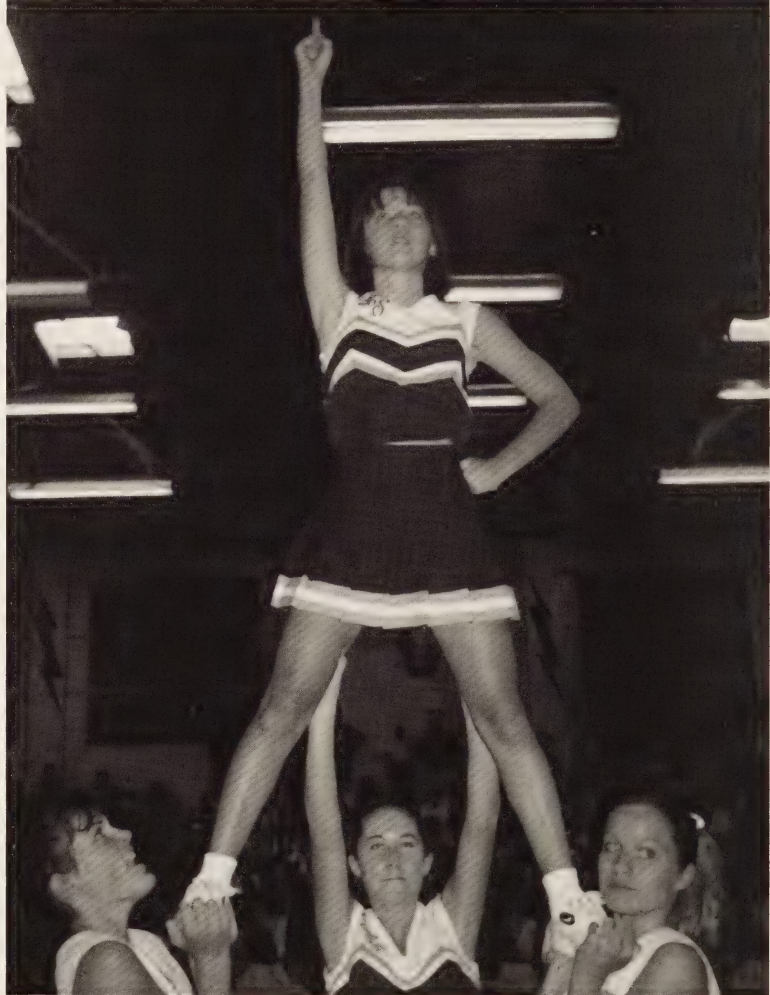

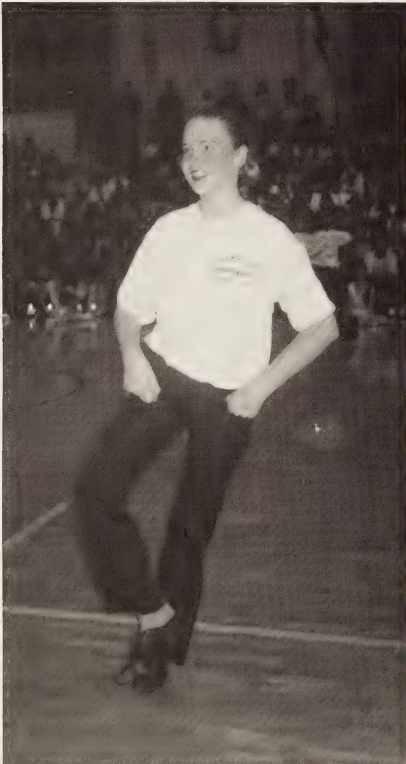

More than half of our upperclassmen work at part-time jobs. Many of these are at the mall or at the new Central Park complex. These students work long hours before or after school and on weekends for an average hourly wage of $5.30. This extra money helps to support activities such as dating, shopping, and auto maintenance.

The high school student of today wants to keep busy and usually is able to do so. More frequently than not, we spend time with our friends. When asked who they wish to do things with, invariably high schoolers say their best friends, girlfriends, boyfriends, or simply their "crew." This is not news to any adult, since that preference has been around for centuries and probably will still be the choice in the future.

N ew Faces, Old Places

There are many new faces among the old faces at Chancellor High School. With over 450 new students here with us, the halls have become even more crowded. The new students have quickly learned that they have to keep moving or they will not get where they are going on time! The new students here are beginning to realize how different high school is compared to middle school or their previous schools. There are so many people here that there is no need to follow the crowd, everyone has their own personality and style.

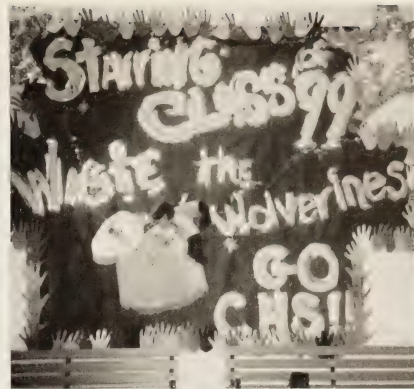

Some of the new students are here because their parents now work in Washington D.C. or are in the military. There are a variety of students from other states and countries as well.

Many new students like it here at Chancellor because of the friendly environment. Everyone always makes time to help a new student in anyway that we can, whether it is helping them with their lockers or finding a class. In spite of this many new students are intimidated by the large student body. After a few weeks the students put aside their fears and enjoy the life of a high school student. The students find themselves involved in many school activities like sports and clubs. They also enjoy going to the football games and school dances. Students always find high school to be an awesome experience.

Hooray for Hollywood

Homecoming weekend is always one of the most exciting weekends of the school year. This year's festivities started off on Tuesday with turn back the clock day, Melissa Duncan and Sara Drebes showed their charger spirit by dressing like they were from the 70's. Josh Kidd jumped back in to the 80's while Jamie Bolger, Laura Hill, Judith Press, Jennifer McClure, Holly Turney, and Meghan Thomas dressed up from a variety of time periods. Wednesday was college t-shirt or sweatshirt day, Thursday was dress as your favorite character day, some chancellor guys braved their reputation to show their school spirit, while others dressed as their favorite television characters. Friday was school colors day, and almost everyone participated. The homecoming pep rally was a huge success. The student body was entertained by the band, dance team, step team, and the cheerleaders. All of the walls around the school got everyone's school spirit raised. The winners of the wall contest were: Most Innovative — The Pep Club, Most Spirit — Drama Club, Best Theme — Computer Club and Math Club, Glitz and Glamour Award — FBLA, The Best Class — Juniors, Class of 1999, Best Overall — Spanish Club, Spanish Honor Society. All of the school's clubs and organizations made the school look wonderful.

A Night In Hollywood

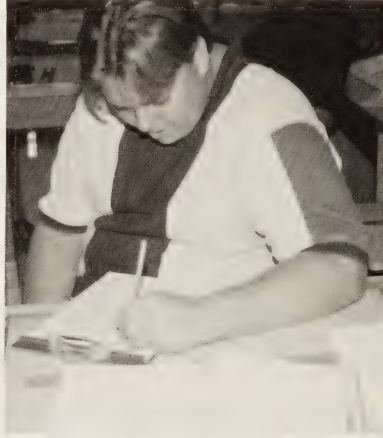

Our theme for this year's homecoming was "A Night In Hollywood." Classes, clubs, and organizations decorated walls and floats to show their charger pride. The festivities and the homecoming court were presided over by King and Queen, Michelle Mendez and Tony Browne. Senior attendants were: Sara Drebes, Esther Jones, Sara McClain, Nettie Sanchez, Josh Kidd, Jason Masi, Brandon Synan, and Brad Haun. Junior attendants were: Kelly Eckert, Nicole Musselman, Patrick Patterson and Macon Davis. Sophomore attendants were: Stephanie Hill, Stephanie Wilson, Todd Phillips, and Scotty Holland. Freshman attendants were: Shaquenda James, Cara Owens, Derek Brown, and T.C. Carter. Hundreds of Chancellor students and their guests attended the dance and had a lot of fun. The bonfire was also attended by hundreds of Chancellor students, many clubs tailgated and enjoyed the music. The dance team, band, step team, and drama club all performed. The bonfire got everyone's spirit up, and showed that Chancellor has a lot of school pride. The football team didn't let the downpour of rain affect their goal to win. The Chargers ignored the mud and rain to defeat North Stafford in the fourth quarter 14-6.

Students ride the bus to and from the Vocational center every morning. Richard Kileen concentrates on his assignment. Steven Middleton and Chris Lawson work on an air-conditioning unit. Matt Hall, Donald Perry, and Joseph Schroder learn hands-on in their mechanics class. Students practice new hair styles in Cosmetology. At the Vocational Center students have the option of a new class called Dental Careers. Joseph Blankenship and Crystal Penland work in their Multi-media course.

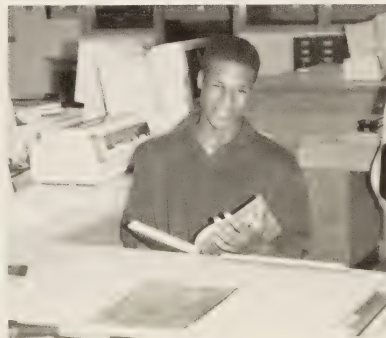

The Spotsylvania Vocational Center opened its doors in 1980. The program is designed to teach students skills for their future careers. Original programs included Air Conditioning and Refrigeration, Auto Body, Auto Mechanics, Agriculture, Data Processing, Business Education, Printing, Marketing, Drafting and Culinary arts. First year enrollment was approximately 485 students. Projected enrollment for future years is approximately 800 Students for day programs, and 1700 for evening adult and Apprenticeship classes. The evening programs is growing more rapidly than the day programs due to the fact many older adults are looking for a career change.

New programs included Dental careers, Media production, and Electronics. The Licensed Practical Nursing and Drafting programs moved into a new facility, as well as Cosmetology, which was housed at Spotsylvania High School. Most classes at the Vocational Center are three hour blocks.

There is also a National Vocational-Technical Honor Society designed for students completing vocational programs. Requirements for interested students is an "A" in a vocational subject and a "B" in non-vocational subjects, as well as good attendance.

T en Years Past

Matt Gundaker, happy at age seven, plays with bubbles in the bathtub. The bubbles are now gone but the smile is still the same as Matt, now a senior, enjoys a day at school. Enjoying cotton candy at a game Kyle Johnson's only concern is the score of the game. Now, though, as a sophomore in Advanced Algebra Two his concerns have turned to the score on his last test. Michelle Mendez is caught in a moment of surprise as a young girl at age seven. Ten years later surprise has turned to delight as Michelle enjoys her junior prom. Picture day was a big day for five year olds as shown by Lisa Call's curled hair and flowered dress in her kindergarten picture. The smile is not as big but the face hasn't changed as Lisa is seen enjoying her lunch at school. Courtney McFeeley tries to stay still for the camera in her first grade picture. Staying still is not a problem ten years later as Courtney stands by a pillar in the lunchroom lobby.

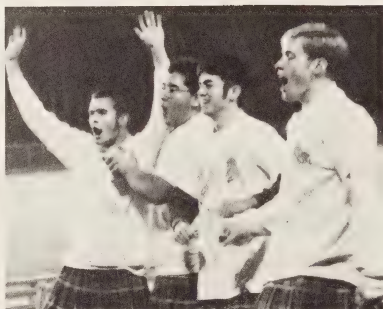

A decade ago the senior, junior, and sophomore classes were filling the classrooms of Salem, Chancellor, and Battlefield Elementary Schools. The Class of 1998 was learning basic math skills that would provide a solid foundation for Math Analysis, Calculus, and Physics. The class of 1999 was learning to read, which would be the first step in conquering American Literature and AP English. The class of 2000 was being taught behavioral, social and learning skills that would lead them into the next century. The class of 2001 was the only class not in school ten years ago. They were either at home or in daycare looking forward to joining the "big kids" and riding the bus the following year.

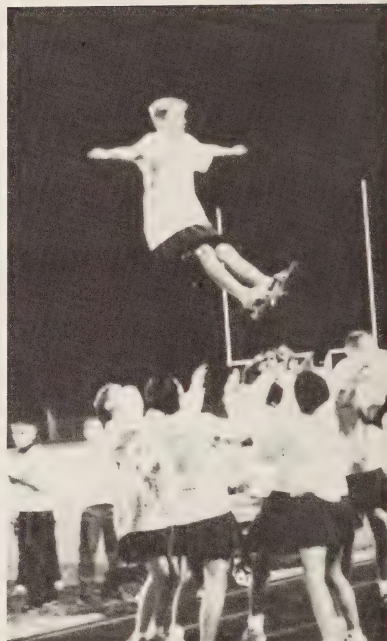

While at school the students may have been listening to the ABC's and counting songs they came home to the sounds of Debbie Gibson or M.C. Hammer. Matt Gundaker remembers passing his days at daycare breakdancing to Michael Jackson. After watching Sesame Street at daycare he recalls coming home to Family Ties and the Facts of Life, which was one of the most popular shows in 1987. Shows like Party of Five and Seinfeld and music by Puff Daddy and Live are the norm today. It is amazing what a difference a decade makes.

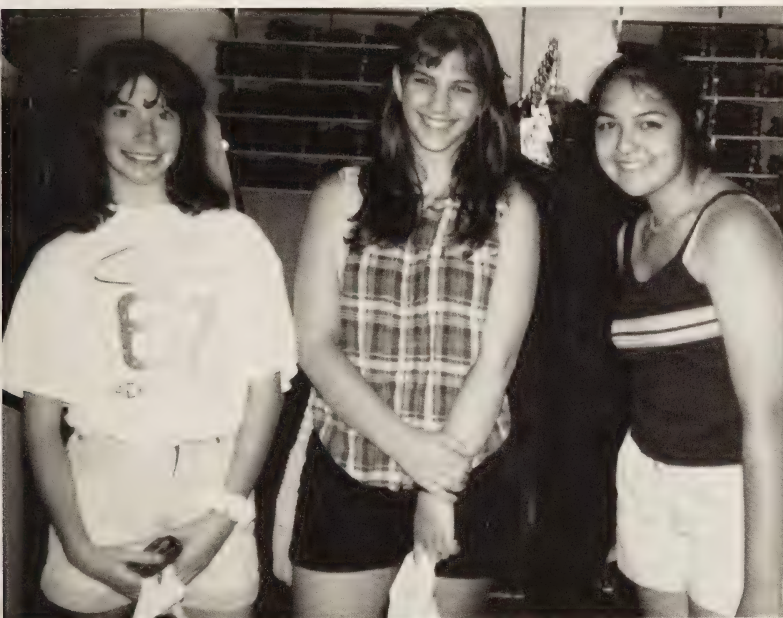

A s the seasons change

Stephanie Johnson takes time out to help the needy. Upperclassmen cheerleaders cheer on their football players while underclassmen perform their stunts to show off their gymnastic abilities. Nicole Drewry enjoys those hot summer days at work. A junior gets into the Halloween spirit by dressing up. Courtney McFeeley, Kara Hoover, and Lisa Lyonais get ready for the new school year by shopping for their new wardrobes. Ruth Hicks and Richard McGrady roll pennies in their first period classes to help support the Ridgeways while some juniors carry some heavy boxes to help out with the turkey drive. Mr. McCleod clowns around with his classes by dressing up as a clown for Halloween.

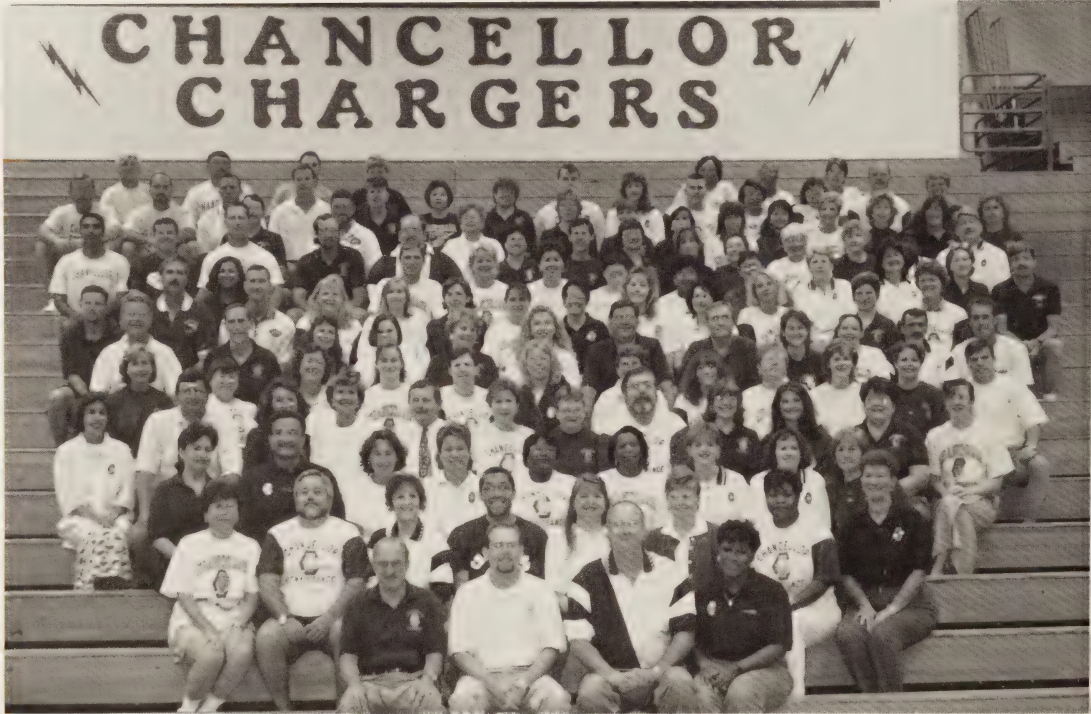

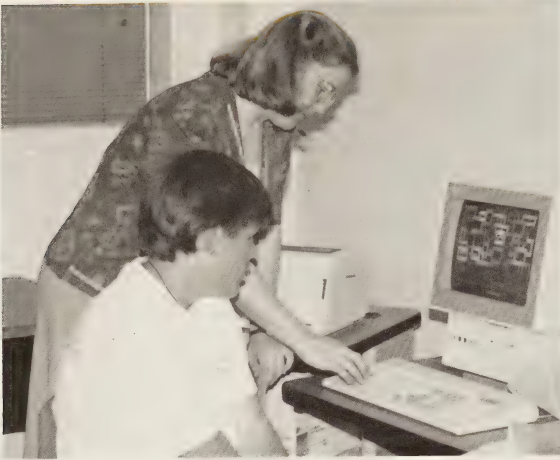

As the seasons change here at Chancellor High School, many events take place. In November, students helped support the Ridgeway Family after Mr. Michael Ridgeway lost his son in a car accident. The students raised money for the family by bringing in pennies to roll during first period.

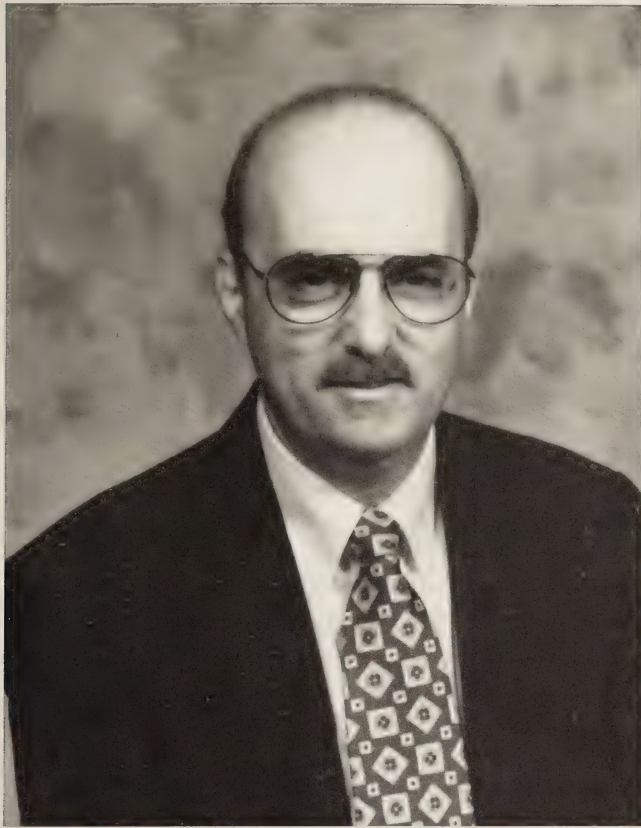

Another fundraiser that took place this year was the turkey drive. Several clubs bought turkeys for needy families in the area for Thanksgiving. Feathers were also purchased by each class in an effort to raise money for the turkeys. The seniors won the feather drive. The feather drive contributed 15 of the 49 turkeys purchased for the needy.

The Powder Puff game raised money for the Junior class. The upperclassmen met their match with the underclassmen. The two teams tied with the final score being one to one.

Academics

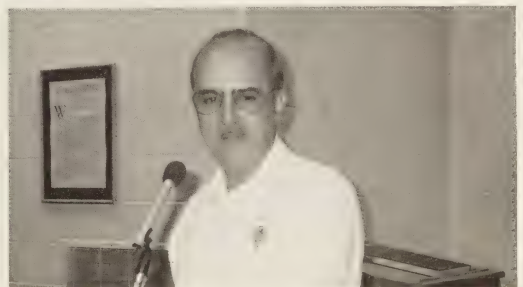

Mr. John R. Marra, Jr. Principal

Mr. Marra has dedicated a great deal of time and work to Chancellor High School. Even though so many students can create many challenges, Mr. Marra manages the school smoothly and effectively.

Ten years ago, when our doors first opened, Mr. Marra was Assistant Principal at CHS to 900 students. Today he is Principal to over 1655 students. Over those years the school has changed drastically, from the halls being too crowded to the school having adopted trailers due to overcrowding. Mr. Marra seems to deal with this situation with a great deal of enthusiasm about how well the school is doing and the progress the students are making toward life outside of Chancellor High School. Seeing how Mr. Marra really loves the student body here at Chancellor High School, he is very active in school activities and is frequently spotted at Chancellor Football games and many other school related events.

One of Mr. Marra's jobs in Chancellor is his speech during graduation. Anybody would know that this is not an easy job to watch students walk out of our lives.

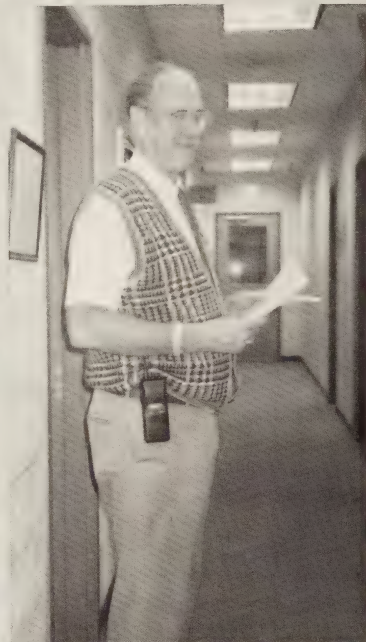

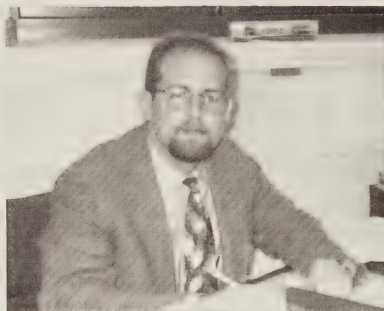

Our caring principal treats his staff with the utmost respect, as if they are his own family. He is always willing to help out whenever needed. He can usually be found in the halls socializing with students and joking with faculty members. Mr. Marra can also be found when you need him to lend a hand or an ear for problems in school, at home or even to talk about more personal topics.

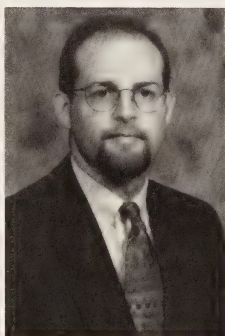

Assistant Principals

This year we have three returning Assistant Principals, Mrs. Jacqueline Bass-Fortune, Mr. Robert W. Daniel, and Mr. P. Stephen Covert. We also have two new Administrative Interns, Mr. Ralph Ladmirault and Mr. Rusty Hall. The Assistant Principals are very dedicated. They can often be seen in the halls talking to students, like Shanna Wise and Junior Lewis. They can also be found working in their offices. Although the Assistant Principals are in charge of disciplining the student body, they do not enjoy it. Mr. Covert would rather be handing an award out to someone for their good work or guiding a student and helping them make the right decisions. Mr. Ladmirault and Mr. Hall like meeting new people. They love the student body of Chancellor. In fact, the Assistant Principals agree that the students at Chancellor are the best. Mr. Ladmirault and Mr. Hall are also impressed with the amount of involvement of the students in activities like the Student Cooperative Association. This is part of the positive attitude that Mr. Covert likes to see from the students. He thinks that a positive attitude is one of the most important things a student can have. He and the other Assistant Principals work hard to provide the students with many ways to get involved. Mr. Hall likes getting involved, too. He enjoys getting to see the new proposals that are being made. These are just some of the things that the Assistant Principals do during the day. Mr. Ladmirault says that every day is a different day. You never know what is going to happen.

Office Staff

Four people work in the office to help run school smoothly. Mrs. Cechman, the attendance secretary, and Mrs. Scott, the bookkeeper, are familiar faces because they have been here since Chancellor opened. They have been through all the changes at Chancellor. Mrs. Scott thinks that the best change has been the addition of the school sign in front of the building and the landscaping. The other two secretaries, however, are not strangers. This is Mrs. Meadows' second year. Ms. Harrison has been here for six years. Among the many things she does, the thing Ms. Harrison likes the most about her job is meeting new people. She certainly does get to see a lot of faces in the office each day. Her least favorite part is not having enough time in the day to complete all her tasks. Much of the work that she and the rest of the office staff does goes unnoticed by the students. They answer the phone politely and are always ready to help us if we have a question or concern. They type memos, prepare the absentee lists, and keep track of the money. Nothing in the office would get accomplished as easily without them.

Guidance Department and Nurse

The Guidance Staff at Chancellor always welcomes students. Whether it's to browse around and get information on colleges, to talk about career plans, or plan your schedule, the Guidance staff will help. Mrs. Jeanette Stewart is the Department Chairperson this year. She has been at Chancellor since the first day it opened ten years ago. Mrs. Dianne Portner and Mr. Randolph Carroll greet parents and students at the freshmen orientation. Mrs. Crystal Bane, a secretary in Guidance, helps a student. And Mr. Randolph Carroll talks with senior Tenley Davenport.

Ms. Catherine Bauer is the English Department Chairperson this year. She has been working at Chancellor since the opening day, ten years ago. Ms. Barbara Light helps a student with his work. She has also been at Chancellor since the opening day. Mrs. Cheryl Nelson also takes the time to provide assistance for a student. Other teachers who have been at Chancellor since it opened are Mrs. Allegra Arrowood, Mrs. Terry Garfield, and Mrs. Sandra Pennington. Some of the best changes that have taken place at Chancellor in ten years, according to the English teachers, are adding benches and trees to the hallways, a more inviting environment, and spirit days every Friday.

Social Studies

Many students say that Social Studies is their favorite subject in school. Social Studies helps students learn about the world in which they live. Mr. Ridgeway spends his school days teaching A.P.U.S. History to eleventh grade students. In this class, students explore the history of the United States. In this class, students are expected to answer document based questions, write essays, and do extensive reading in a college level textbook. Mrs. Soltes helps Brian Steinkoenig with his geography. Mrs. Soltes's classes learn about the world's geography. Mrs. Holmes enjoys another day of teaching history. Mrs. Holmes Virginia and U.S. History classes learn about how America came to be, from the formation of Jamestown to the present day.

Mathematics

Mrs. Casserly is the Mathematics Department Chairperson. She has enjoyed working at Chancellor High School for the past five years and hopefully for many more years to come. Mr. Lynch and his fourth period class take time out to stop and chat about the day. Mrs. Casserly stops to answer a question for Mrs. Tomlin while they are in the Math Office during their planning period. All of the fourteen Mathematics teachers are below. A math teacher's job is a difficult one because of the extra help they give to all students. All of our math teachers assistance over the past ten years has been greatly appreciated.

Science

Chancellor's Science teachers are always showing Charger spirit, whether it is helping a student in need, delivering eye catching notes or making class time fun. This year the Science Department has thirteen teachers, all of whom are always willing to give a helping hand. This year's Science Department chairperson is Mr. Oliver. Some new faces at Chancellor aren't only students but teachers too, such as Ms. Villers and Ms. Young. Shown here are Mrs. Lynn Yealy, Mrs. Lori Mattson, and Mrs. Cheryl Meeks assisting their students during the first month of school.

Special Education and Special Services

Ms. Roxane Hanson watches as student, Samantha Ellis, works on her assignments. Mr. Dennis Bane is the chairperson for the Special Education and Special Services department. He has been working at Chancellor since its opening, ten years ago, and has seen changes and improvements take place in this department. Mr. Bane says that one of the changes is "The core of the department has shifted to stress transition from school to the real world, and for many students their curriculum has changed." The department currently has 185 students enrolled. Mr. Bane's favorite part about teaching in this program is working with the various students and the other dedicated professionals. It is also interesting to see them interact and work together towards one common goal. Along with all of his accomplishments as a teacher he is also a coach for Cross Country and Boys' Track.

Essential Personnel

The people on the cafeteria staff always have a fun time serving lunch to the students of Chancellor. The busy cafeteria staff is taking a break from cleaning up after a hectic lunch. Juanita LaMoy in the lunch line, is exhausted after a rush of students come into her line. Leslie Bowling, Stella Pennington, Charlotte McGee, and Carol Carter are hard at work preparing for the next lunch shift. Mr. Payne is cleaning up after lunch. Ms. Sorrelles is working hard to keep the school neat by sweeping up the main lobby after 5th period. The students at school do not always realize how hard the personnel at Chancellor works. The essential personnel of the school work hard every day to keep Chancellor High School and its students safe, clean, and well fed.

Essential Personnel

Our librarians, ISS monitor, studyhall monitor, and vision specialist are four of those behind-the-scenes personnel who help Chancellor to run successfully. Their jobs are not always easy. Have you ever tried to collect a bookfine from a disgruntled senior? Or asked a group of talkative freshmen to quiet down in study hall? At first glance, these non-classroom jobs might appear easy; however, these people work hard to keep the library running, the studyhall quiet, the ISS room productive, and the special needs students successful.

Freshmen Pauline Gilbert and Rosie Bruner attentively pay attention to their teacher and participating actively while Alicia Erwin and a friend get an early start on their homework as they study for their class. Freshmen always show that they can do their best in everything they do whether it be classwork or participating in clubs or athletics. Freshmen also have a tendency to show more spirit than any other class in all of Chancellor High School which makes them a lot more fun to work with. This is why a lot of people enjoy working with our freshmen students more than any other class in this school. As you can tell freshmen like Pauline Gilbert, Rosie Bruner and Alicia Erwin are just a few of the hundreds of freshmen that are representing Chancellor High School. Freshmen classes are one of the greatest classes in Chancellor High School.

The Freshmen homecoming attendants this year were Derek Brown, Cara Owens, T.C. Carter, and Nina James. This year's theme was A Night in Hollywood which many clubs and organizations participated in. For spirit week we had Turn Back the Clock Day, College T-Shirt/Sweatshirt Day, Dress as your Favorite Actor/Actress/Character Day. The Bonfire and the Homecoming Game were a great success this year Chargers won over The Wolverines. The rain this year was pouring down as the Chancellor Chargers defeated the Wolverines. It has become a tradition here at Chancellor for rain to try to bring our Charger's spirit down, but apparently rain had no effect on the Chargers who charged into victory after half-time. Everyone enjoyed the half-time parade as the rain stopped for a few minutes and the fog lifted like a sign of victory that the Chargers would be triumphant. Everyone who went to the Homecoming Dance enjoyed the music, dancing, and talking with their friends as a D.J. blasted music, smoke, and lights.

One of the first ways to show your class spirit is by working on the Homecoming Wall. This is a very time involved project that takes lots of imagination and hard work. The members of the class board and the officers are always the first to volunteer their time to this project and to try to make their wall the best. Pictured are several freshmen working hard to show their class spirit.

Many Freshmen find their first year of High School very intimidating, and one of the ways their fears are eased is orientation. This takes place over the summer and is a tour conducted by other students. They learn where their homeroom is and find where the important places such as the locker rooms, gym and cafeteria are located. This helps the Freshmen feel more at ease about the quickly approaching school-year. In the picture Kim Dowdell conducts a tour for rising freshmen and their parents.

C lubs and Organizations

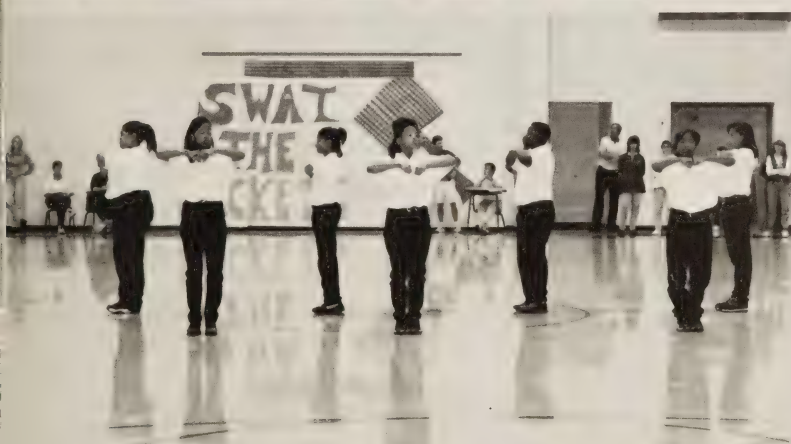

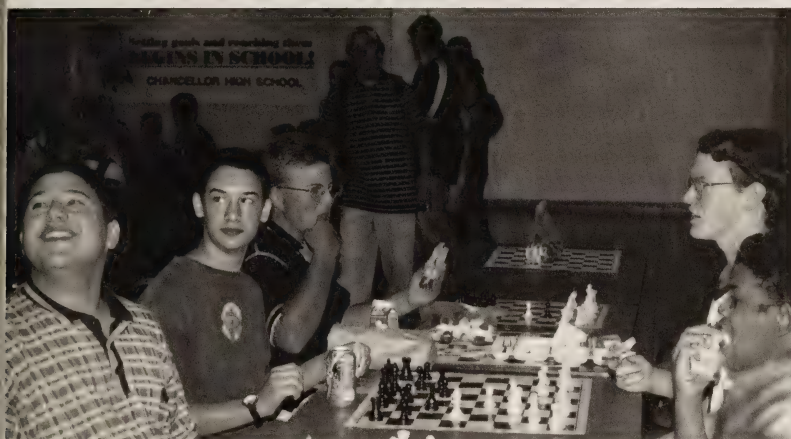

Chancellor High School offers students over 50 non-athletic activities in which to participate. We sponsor over 37 clubs alone that are either academic or service oriented, and sometimes stress both. students here devote much of their free time to help others.

Mr. Marra and Sarah Webb are about to crown Michelle Mendez as Homecoming Queen. The Umbrella Club is performing for us at our first pep rally. The Cheerleaders worked hard making the sign for our homecoming game. The LRMB is our largest organization here at Chancellor High School. Their dedication has paid off by all the awards they have received this year. The FHA is loading the canned goods they collected to give to the needy for Thanksgiving. During their lunch students enjoy playing chess. Becky Allen and Amanda Nebiker are playing on their piccolos at the pep rally.

Inter Club Council

The ICC is comprised of the presidents of each club. Mrs. Garfield is the ICC sponsor.

Michelle Mendez and a friend are working hard thinking about what the FCA homecoming wall will look like. Jonathan Nogueira attends a Pep Club meeting. At this meeting Pep Club decided what they wanted to do for their homecoming wall. They decided to festively decorate the Senior Territory section in the cafeteria.

The Newspaper staff produced a Homecoming wall to show pride in their newspaper. Judith Press consults Mrs. Pennington with a difficult decision involving her next article that is going to be submitted in the papers next issue.

The Literary Magazine also known as the Menagerie has a lot of hard workers on their staff that help publish a magazine that expresses the thoughts and ideas of the students here at Chancellor High. Students can submit a poem, short story or another literary work for publication in the Menagerie. Mrs. Devall assists Akeimi Glenn, Rachel Thomas and Kerry Balsley with a literary work that will be featured in the next Menagerie.

Sports

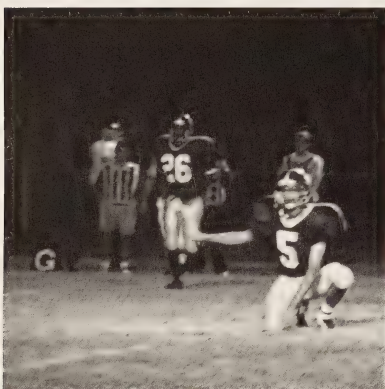

Sports is one of the things Chancellor is best known for. Our teams have proven to be true Chargers by accepting the challenge from other schools and excelling both as teams and individuals.

There is a sport here at Chancellor for just about anyone. Chancellor students can stay involved throughout the entire school year by participating in either fall and winter sports like football or cheerleading, in spring sports like soccer or field hockey, or both. The sports here at Chancellor are very competitive, yet fun, and provide a good workout for the students.

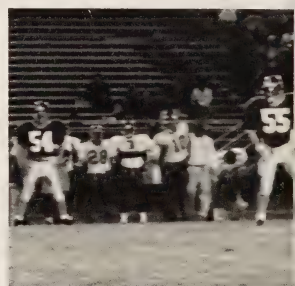

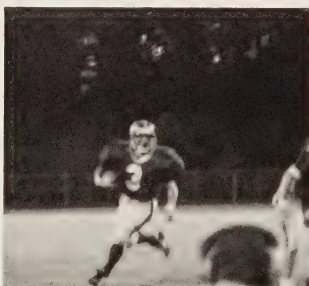

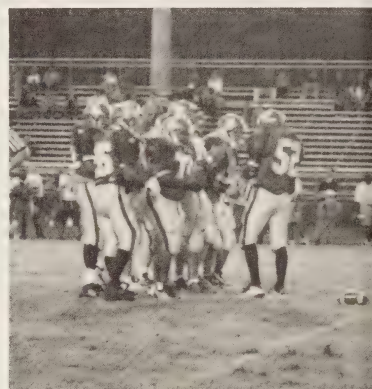

The Varsity Football team ended their season successfully. They had a strong offense and defense behind them. Captains Tony Browne, Beau Littek, Mario Huesman and James Heflin were able to complete plays and keep their team concentrated. The team played their hardest at each game and it showed in everyone's faces.

MVP, Tony Browne made All Area, All District and All Region defensive lineman. Chancellor's offensive player is Sherod Lewis, Defensive player is James Heflin, and The Charger award went to Beau Littek.

Bobby Barnes looks for an open player. Macon Davis runs on the field to begin the game. Jamie Rawlings waits eagerly for the ball to be kicked. Brett Rothell and Joe Schroeder set up for their next play.

Football does not always end in high school. An example of that is Tom Browne. He was awarded a full scholarship to the Virginia Military Institute.

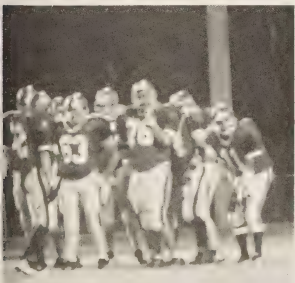

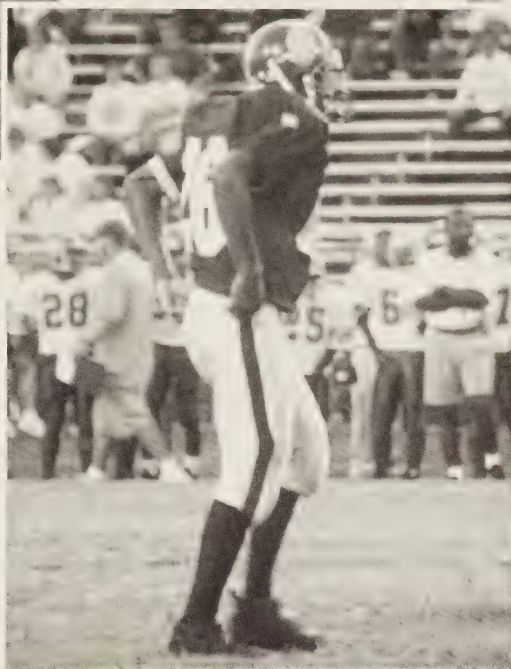

The football team is always ready to show their school spirit. The referee talks to the offensive line.

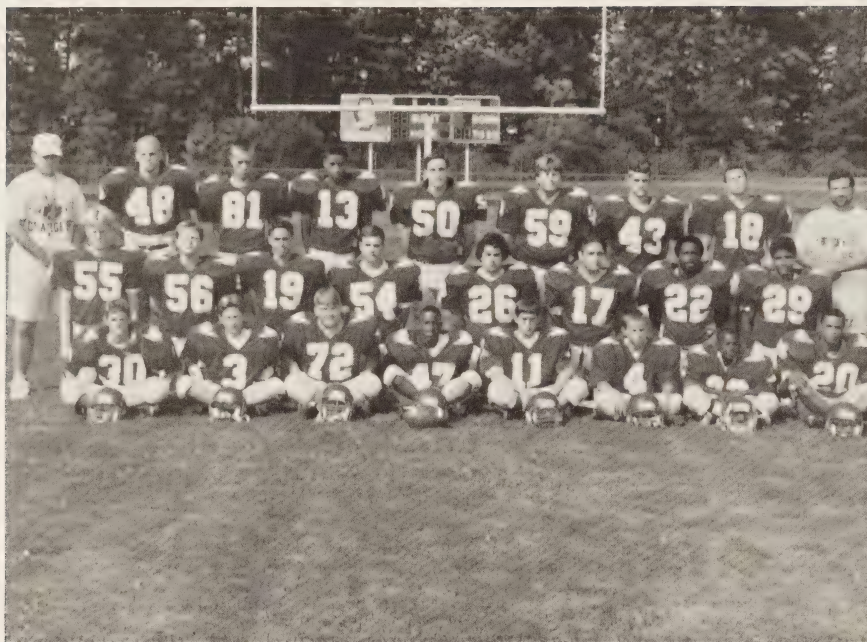

The Varsity and Freshman teams had an excellent season. They worked hard this season to provide fans with excitement at every game. Despite some bad weather, a young team, and tough competitors, they kept giving it their all. They never gave up. The individual efforts of team members as well as the whole team contributed to their success. Some key seniors are graduating this spring and will be missed, but there are many talented players who will carry on the tradition of Charger excellence.

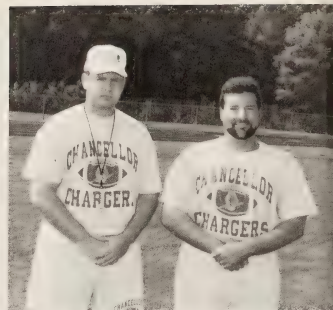

Football takes time, strength, and dedication. Whether our players win or lose they are always ready to show their Charger spirit. If you practice hard and work well as a team, in the end you will get an impressive and gratifying season.

The Freshman Football team heads for their locker room after a successful game. The defensive line gets ready for a play on our field. A lot of hard work and practice allowed the team to excel rapidly on the field. Tracy Carter and Drew Robinson cut through their opponent and down the field for a touchdown. Practice, speed and determination paid off for the Freshmen team. They finished their season undefeated in district play, capturing the Freshman Commonwealth District Championship.

Co-captains Jennifer Dodson and Casey Woodard prepare for the match. In this year's season, Jennifer won the Leadership Award, and Casey won the Charger Award. The whole team, including Katie Synan — Most Improved, Becky Millman, and Jessica Gates played very well to improve their record to 13-3. Dana Jones was the MVP of the team. She was 1st team All Commonwealth District and 1st team All Region.

The girl's worked hard all year to improve their score. This year their record was 2/9, a great improvement from last year's score. Meghan Woodcock was this year's MVP and won in the first round of the district tournament. Eileen Greene started the year at number four seed and ended the year at number two seed. She is this year's most improved player. Meghan Young and Lisa Call worked hard to improve Chancellor's score at a home game. Mrs. Myers coached tennis for the first time this year and is proud of the girl's improvement.

The Winter Junior Varsity Cheerleading squad tries to increase the spirit at one of their many basketball games during the Winter season. Some of the Varsity Cheerleaders look for a basket at a Girls' Basketball game. Nan Freeman and Rosie Canizares show spirit as they cheer towards a victory. Mary Noel and Lauren Small, members of the Junior Varsity Cheerleading squad help the Chargers extend their lead. The Junior Varsity cheerleaders begin another coordinated cheer to help our team to win. During their summer vacation, cheerleaders Meghan Thomas, Tanya Wyatt, and DeAnna Hamn went to a cheerleading camp with a few of the other cheerleading squads from our school and from around our area.

Robert — Congratulations on a Job Well Done! You have Given us many fine memories through the years — It is time to start gathering your own, as in youth, you'll do well in life. Keep up the good work — We're Proud of You!

Love Mom and Dad

Tonya L. Wyatt

Words cannot express how much you mean to us. We thank God for giving us the joy of watching you grow and develop into the special young lady that you are. We have truly been blessed to have such a warm and talented daughter. With your dedication and enthusiasm you can do anything you want to do. A special thank you to Dwayne for all the love and support that he has given you. Your brothers influence in your life is reflected in your athletic abilities and your desire to be best you can be at whatever you attempt.

Class of 1998 GHS:

To Achieve Your Dreams Remember Your ABC'S
 Avoid negative sources, people, places, things and habits.
 Believe in yourself.
 Consider things from every angle.
 Don't give up and don't give in.
 Enjoy life today, yesterday is gone, tomorrow may never come.
 Family and friends are hidden treasures, seek them and enjoy their riches.

Give more than you planned to.
 Hang on to your dreams.
 Ignore those who try to discourage you.
 Just do it.
 keep trying no matter how hard it seems, it will get easier.
 Love yourself first and most.

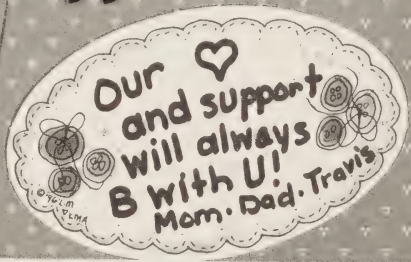

Make it happen.
 Never lie, cheat or steal, always strike a fair deal.
 Open your eyes and see things as they really are.
 Practice makes perfect.
 Quitters never win and winners never quit.
 Read, study and learn about everything important in your life.
 Stop procrastinating.
 Take control of your own destiny.
 Understand yourself in order to better understand others.
 Visualize it.
 Want it more than anything.
 Xcellerate your efforts.
 You are unique of all God's creations, nothing can replace you.
 Zero in on your target and go for it!

*May all Your Dreams Come True
Lean against a tree
And dream your world of dreams
Work hard at what you like to do
And try to overcome all obstacles
Laugh at your mistakes
And praise yourself for learning from them
Be honest with people and enjoy the good in them
Don't be afraid to show your emotions
Laughing and crying make you feel better
Love your friends and family
With your entire being
They are the most important part of your life

Heather King

Heather,

As you graduate from High School this year, I am filled with the memories of the sunshine you poured into my life over the years of your childhood. I have no words that are adequate to express the overwhelming joy I've had and will continue to have because of you. All I can say to you today as you head off into a future of greater accomplishments is, "I am so very proud of you and I am truly honored to be your mother."

*Love always,
Mom*

Our big man!

Remember your first day in Kindergarten — you cried furiously holding tight to your Daddy's legs and refused to stay in school — so we took you home — the next day you cried again very hard — but reluctantly stayed in school and you missed less than ten days in the 13 years that followed. Mark, you are a great son with superb work ethics, an excellent student, a furious competitor in sports, possessing a deep sense of loyalty to your team, school, family, friends, and the Razorbacks whom you were so proud of when they won 1994 National Championship. "For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do."

Dear Melissa,

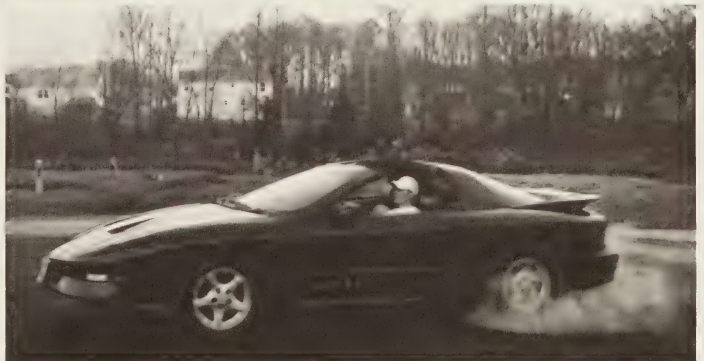

Just as surely as every snowflake has a perfect design and no two designs are the same, in all the world there is nobody like you. Nobody has your smile, your eyes, your nose, your hands, your voice. You are the only one in God's creation with your set of natural abilities. Through all of eternity, no one will ever look, talk, walk, think, or act exactly like you. You are special. God created you for a very special purpose that no one else can do as well as you.

As you set out to seek God's will for your life, always remember that we are here for you. We are so proud of the young woman you have become, yet you will always be our little girl!

Dear Maggie,

You have been the focus of our lives for the past seventeen years. Thank you for filling that time with joy and love. We want to tell you how profoundly proud we are of the person you are becoming and the choices you have made. While it goes without saying that we're proud of your academic achievements, we're equally as proud of the way you have chosen to live your life, the things you've chosen to believe, the preparations you've made to secure your future, and the friends you've chosen to share it. If it's true that life is a series of choices, you are off to a great start!

As the early chapters of your life come to a close those who care most about you look forward with loving anticipation to see how the next chapters unfold. We're sure they will be wonderful.

"Isn't she lovely my Little Ka-ra-chelle ..."

Dear Kara,

As your family we hope that we have each given you something that you can carry with you forever in life.

From your Dad — To know how important it is to give your very best in everything you do (Semper Fi)

From Mom — The importance of a good sense of humor (and a good umbrella or socks, etc)

From Granny — How to look for quality if it be in the friends you choose or other things in life (even if it's shopping for tennis shoes)

From Kassia — How to debate, litigate, or just plain argue (just remember nothing physical and go back to the corners when the bell rings)

From Kelsey — That there is nothing better than unconditional hugs and kisses everyday (peas and carrots)

Finally from Kyla — Always keep a song in your heart, a "cutie" smile on your face and keep those feet a dancing! (I love you sissy Sara)

We also want to take this time to let you know how proud we are of you. May God always bless you.

Love,
Your family

The Challenges Colophon

The theme for the 97-98 school year is "A Decade of Progress". 1998 marks the tenth year Chancellor High School has been in existence. Chancellor first opened its doors ten years ago on September 25, 1988.

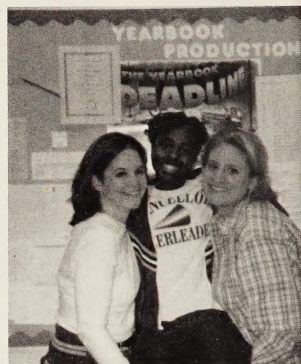

As we began yet another decade of progress at Chancellor this year, yearbook became a class and therefore grew in size. This year the staff is made up of 17 students, the largest staff ever! Three seniors will be leaving the staff this year: Kimberly Gibbs, Co-Copy Editor; Melissa Johnston, Co-Copy Editor; Jennifer Merideth, Layout Editor. Our underclassmen are Sharon Brown; Rosie Canizeras; Lina Ciarleglio; Jennifer Garner; Angela Johnson, Sports Editor; Katie Johnson, Photography Editor; Olivia Johnson; Tracy Mannion; Brandon McKinney; Sarah Moser; Heather Ochs; Katie Summers; Julie Woodcock; Sarah Wright, Academic Editor.

Our yearbook is published by Jostens in Winston-Salem, N.C., with Jay Hollis as our sales representative and our new facility service rep., Jonathan Gunter. This is our tenth year with Jostens, too. Our book is in a trim of 8½ x 11, and due to our tremendous senior tribute sales, our book has increased to 244 pages, 20 more pages than last year. A 20 page spring supplement is also produced and handed out on the first day of school.

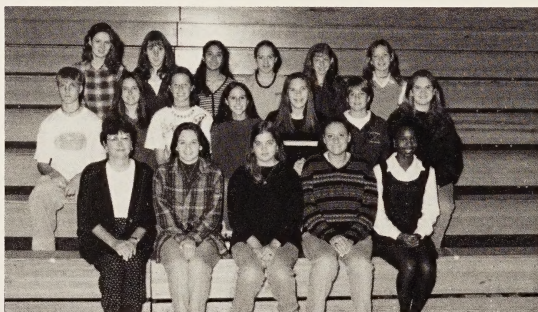

There is more to being on the Yearbook staff than just producing a 264 page yearbook. We have to take roughly 3000 pictures, sell ads and tributes, assist in taking class and group pictures, edit senior quotes, and collect club and sport rosters. We participate in Homecoming activities and donate to several different charities throughout the year. Even though some of these are stressful times, we occasionally get a chance to enjoy the time we have together, and manage to have fun, especially on field trips.

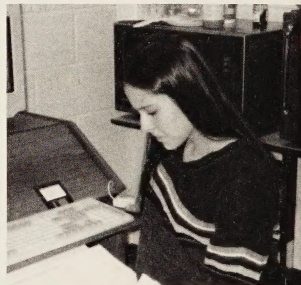

During deadline time . . .

We will miss our seniors, and wish them luck!

After deadline time . . .
